Castellano, 59, (center) are shown chained together being escorted by U.S. marshal as they arrived at office of Justice of Peace Ruth E. Judge Sentences Two In Robbery Of Bank

TWO MEN who robbed the West End Branch of Monroe Security Bank and Trust Co. at Broadheadville last May 4 were sentenced in U. S. District Court in Scranton yesterday to terms in Lewisburg Penitentiary. Chief Judge John W. Murphy sentenced Ralph A. Castellano, 59, Moonachie, N. J., to 10 years in prison and his nephew, Henry Daniel Castellano, 31, Edgewater, N. J., to eight years. They left immediately for Lewisburg in custody of U. S. marshals.

En route, they stopped in Stroud Township where the state charged them with robbery with an accomplice at an arraignment before Mrs. Ruth E. Miller, justice of the peace.

No Plea

Neither entered a plea to the state charge. Mrs. Miller held them without bail for court action, then released them in the custody of the U. S. Marshal. Dist. Atty. James R. Marsh, represented the Commonwealth.

The Castellanos were represented by Lee Koehler, Stroudsburg attorney, at the arraignment. They had previously entered guilty pleas in Scranton to bank robbery charges.

They were charged with the armed robbery of the bank in which $34,238.75 was taken. All but about $5,000 of the money was recovered.

The younger Castellano was arrested in Easton two days after the robbery and his uncle was apprehended in Crescent Beach, S. C., May 8.

Besides the bank robbery, the state has charged Ralph Castellano with the holdup of a jewelry store at Sunbury last Oct. 27.

Hurricane Season Opens

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—The 1960 hurricane season opened officially Wednesday and the Navy sent two hurricane-hunter planes out to look for approaching storms.

Airborne Early Warning Squadron 4 is based at Jacksonville and handles operations under the direction of the joint hurricane warning center in Miami.

SANTIAGO, Cuba (AP)—A Cuban firing squad Wednesday executed rebel leader Manuel Beaton, 30, and two accomplices. Shot with the former army captain were his brother, Cipriano, and Felipe Martinez.

$1.25 Minimum Pay Bill Advances In Congress

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Labor Committee Wednesday stamped its approval on a bill to increase the minimum wage to $1.25 an hour in three steps and to extend coverage to an additional 4,105,000 workers.

The action still is subject to a final vote by the committee, which is expected Thursday to send it to the House floor.

Meanwhile, the Senate Labor Committee, trying to fashion similar legislation, rejected 12-3 a Republican move to knock out from those to be given coverage for the first time 3,937,000 retail and service enterprise employees.

The senators started out with a bill drawn up by a subcommittee that would have added 10,730,000 to those covered. It has been pared down to 5,124,000 with laundry workers, hotel and restaurant employees and workers in small retail stores and service establishments eliminated.

Wednesday's unsuccessful effort would have reduced the total to 1,137,000.

The Eisenhower administration has opposed any least in the present $1-an-hour minimum but has indicated it would accept an increase to $1.10 or $1.15. It asked that three million workers be added to the 24 million now covered.

The efforts of the Senate and House Labor committees have been aimed at coming out with a bill President Eisenhower will not veto. Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.), chief sponsor of the Senate bill, said he expects his measure to be approved finally by the Senate committee Thursday.

The original House bill, introduced by Rep. James Roosevelt (D-Calif.), would have added the 25-cent increase in one step and brought eight million more workers under coverage.

As approved, the measure would raise the minimum to $1.15 next Nov. 1, $1.20 on Nov. 1 next year and $1.25 on Nov. 1, 1962. Newly covered workers would start at $1 and reach $1.25 in three years.

It would mean pay increases this year for an estimated two million covered workers earning less than $1.15 an hour and for 837,000 new, covered workers earning under $1.

Thousands Of Missile Workers Idle

LOS ANGELES (AP)—More than 30,000 aircraft and missile workers struck Wednesday for higher wages, but within hours agreement was reached to send more than 20,000 of them back to work.

The International Assn. of Machinists broke off negotiations for 10,000 workers at Lockheed missile division plants just before the midnight strike and these talks have not been resumed.

The United Auto Workers reached an agreement in three hours with Douglas Aircraft Co., covering 21,000 at Long Beach, Calif., and Tulsa, Okla.

A membership meeting is expected to approve the agreement, terms of which have not been disclosed.

Tires Cut

Lockheed said there was some tire slashing at its big missile plant at Sunnyvale, Calif., and that pickets were impeding the flow of workers through the gates.

No incidents were reported at the smaller Van Nuys, Calif., plant.

An estimated 35 or 40 IAM pickets paraded at the gates of Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif., site of the nation's only combat-ready facilities for launching the intercontinental Atlas missile.

The IAM placed pickets there a week ago Monday in a strike against Convair, builder of the Atlas. Additional pickets joined the line after the strike against Lockheed.

A Lockheed spokesman said the strike undoubtedly would have some effect on the company's satellite research program at Vandenberg.

New Earthquake Jolts Agadir

CASABLANCA, Morocco (AP)—A new earthquake Wednesday jolted the Agadir area, where 12,000 persons are estimated to have been killed by quakes 2 1/2 months ago. No new casualties or damage were reported.

The quake was felt in the port and industrial sections of the town, which is now nearly deserted. The shock extended to Inezgane, a village about five miles inland from Agadir.

Rioting Japan Close To Revolt

TOKYO (AP)—A mob of hysterical leftist students laid siege to Japan's Parliament buildings for hours Wednesday night, bringing the nation close to revolution. The harassed government finally allowed police to use tear gas to end the rioting, worst in a month's series of outbreaks following the Communist line.

The police said one woman was killed and nearly 850 persons were injured in the rain-drenched outbreak around the capitol.

The government denounced the uprising as a Communist attempt to overthrow Premier Nobusuke Kishi and keep Japan from ratifying the new treaty aligning this country with the United States in a Far Eastern line of defense against Communist aggression.

The rioting went on for seven hours before police, helpless with their clubs and forbidden to use revolvers, got orders to charge with tear gas. It was the first time in eight years the government has permitted use of gas.

The outbreak came just four days before the scheduled arrival of President Eisenhower and cast fresh doubt on whether the government's security measures could safeguard him. But the Cabinet, in an emergency midnight session, said nothing about withdrawing Kishi's invitation to Eisenhower—an action which almost certainly would bring down his government.

The government blamed the uprising on "a planned action dictated by international Communists to destroy democracy by violent revolution."

"We will not surrender to any violence and will continue to defend the principles of democracy," said Eisensaburo Shima, Cabinet secretary.

Reexamine Precautions
A government statement read by Shima following the Cabinet meeting added: "We have decided not to change the original stand taken in regard to President Eisenhower's visit. But since the opposition movement against President Eisenhower's visit is expected to increase, carefully thought out security measures will be taken while at the same time President Eisenhower's itinerary will be re-examined."

The area around the Parliament buildings looked like a battle ground. Wreckage littered the scene, spilled gasoline burned on the pavements and heavy black smoke filled the air.

The rioting left nearly 500 persons injured, two-thirds of them police.

While a driving rain poured down, the pro-Red students tore off the gates of Parliament, hurled bricks, rocks and staves in violent kamikaze (suicide) charges at police, and occupied part of the grounds surrounding Parliament. The tall granite Diet tower was not damaged, but the mob sacked a two-story annex.

From dusk until after midnight 14,000 members of the radical federation Zengakuren held the building under their sway.

They stormed through police lines into the grounds, overturned and burned 20 trucks, tore up pavement and used it to bombard police, and staged two mass battles with the 5,000 police guards.

Police finally dispersed the rioters with a tear gas charge that left dozens of moaning, bleeding youths—both boys and girls—littering the streets.

The Cabinet announced no steps for dealing with new left-wing demonstrations threatened for later Thursday and for Friday. It defended as "natural under the circumstances" the belated decision to use tear gas, and it asked public cooperation.

The violence broke out despite a move by Kishi to take the heat off the visit of President Eisenhower. He ordered Parliament recessed, thus holding up final ratification of the hotly disputed U. S.-Japanese military treaty until after the President's departure.

Ignoring the true move, opposition Socialists and left-wing union leaders denounced police action in Wednesday night's riot and renewed their demands that Eisenhower not come to Japan.

Ordered by Commies
The secretary-general of Kishi's Liberal-Democratic party, Kosaku

Shinoda, charged flatly that the antigovernment demonstrations raging for a month were ordered by Communist China and the Soviet Union.

Shinoda said Japanese Communists, acting on orders from Peking, have taken charge of the demonstrations. He asserted that the Socialist party and the Sohyo labor federation, which launched the campaign to overthrow Kishi and defeat the mutual security pact, no longer were in control of the demonstrations.

He implied that the demonstrations were financed by overseas Communist sources.

Shinoda said he had received reports that members of the student-led mob which attacked the automobile of White House press secretary James C. Hagerty last week received 1,000 yen—$2.78—each while participants in the other demonstrations received 350,000 yen.

Union Board Elects Six Teachers

SIX new teachers were hired and three construction contracts awarded last night at the Stroud Union School Board meeting.

Those hired are William Saini, English teacher at $4,200; Stanley Mick, mathematics teacher at $4,200; Miss Gail Keener, kindergarten teacher at $4,600; John Powell, geography teacher at $4,600; John McIntyre, art teacher at $4,300; and Richard Mering, science teacher at $4,200.

Herbert Imbt was awarded the contract to resurface the playground area of the Ramsey School. His low bid was $132,480.

Electrical Bids
Ernest Anglemeyer was low bidder on electrical work on six rooms in Clearview, $182,644, and in the lunch room of Ramsey School, $770,557.

For 375 feet of fence to be constructed around the athletic field Charles Frank was low bidder with $12,250.

Other business was the approval of requests from Monroe County Band to use the auditorium for rehearsals during the Summer.

Babe Ruth League was granted permission to use the athletic field for its games this season.

Twin City TV softball team was granted the use of the lights and athletic field for its night games this season. The softball team will pay the cost of the lights.

Threats Silence Witness

WASHINGTON (AP)—A reputed front man for boxing racketeers—speaking of threats to get him even in prison—refused Wednesday to tell Senate investigators anything about Frankie Carbo, described as the undisputed overlord of boxing.

Irving Mischel, now serving a 10- to 20-year sentence for grand larceny, said he didn't want to talk because he had been "threatened with violence" if he did so. He wouldn't say who threatened him.

Sen. Philip A. Hart (D-Mich.), acting chairman of the Senate Antimonopoly subcommittee, probing gangster influence in boxing, let Mischel know the threats gave him no legal ground to refuse testimony. Mischel then pleaded the Fifth Amendment.

Shaking his head "no," the pudgy-faced Mischel rejected a subcommittee offer to cloak him with special protection at the Clinton State Prison in Dannemora, N. Y., from which he was brought here under guard.

At one point, Hart exclaimed indignantly that "some long hands have reached right into this committee room" and behind prison walls to silence Mischel.

One hundred and twenty-three Republicans joined with 254 Democrats to put over the pay raise for half a million postal employees and one million other federal workers.

New Barrett Ambulance In Service

BUCK HILL FALLS — A spanking new ambulance has found its home in Barrett Township and like any new vehicle, its owners are bursting with pride.

This 1960 Cadillac is the property of the Barrett Voluntary Ambulance Corps. The price tag reads: $12,400.

But its necessity is plainly evident in its use thus far. The ambulance, purchased only last week, has been summoned to seven calls already.

The ambulance association hopes to finance the cost through a membership drive. People in the area can become a member of the corps for a $5 fee, President Henry Shaller reported yesterday.

Reduced In Year
This fee will also cover the cost of using the ambulance in case of emergencies. After one year, the fee is reduced to $2 a year.

Shaller said a good example of this transaction is this: If a person had to pay for ambulance service in case of any emergency the approximate cost would amount to the same as an eight-year membership.

The ambulance service covers the Barrett, Northern Paradise, and North Price Township territory, the president said.

House Ignores Veto Threat

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House ignored the threat of a presidential veto Wednesday and overwhelmingly approved a 7 1/2 percent pay increase for federal employees.

The 377-40 vote by which the measure was passed and sent to the Senate was far more than the two-thirds majority that would be needed to enact it over a veto.

One hundred and twenty-three Republicans joined with 254 Democrats to put over the pay raise for half a million postal employees and one million other federal workers.

Doubt Japan Can Protect Eisenhower

MANILA (AP)—Worried American security officials worked over arrangements Thursday for President Eisenhower's visit to Japan in the face of bloody new riots in Tokyo. They are said to have deep doubts now whether Japanese police can protect the President on his scheduled arrival Sunday afternoon.

The warm welcome showered on Eisenhower in the Philippines was shadowed by the continuing violence in Japan and the possibility of what might develop there.

Review Situation

Informed sources said security forces here and in Tokyo were reassessing the situation. There was no immediate word whether the officials charged with protecting the President would make any direct approach to him regarding their reported concern.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty told newsmen he would have no comment on the new violence in Tokyo—climaxing in the worst riots so far against the U.S.—Japan security treaty and the government of Japanese Premier Nobusuke Kishi.

Before word of the new rioting reached here Hagerty said the President had no qualms whatever about his personal safety in Japan.

"It's a question of whether he is going to let Japanese demonstrators bluff him into not going through with the visit or whether he is going to call their bluff," Hagerty said at that time.

He Is Soldier

Asked whether Eisenhower would call the bluff, Hagerty replied: "We are going. He is a soldier and he knows."

The White House has declined—obviously for security reasons—to make public the details of the President's planned three-day visit to Tokyo. The itinerary may not be disclosed until the eve of his arrival.

Wednesday night the President, an old soldier in the Philippines, was guest of honor at a state dinner given by Philippine President Carlos P. Garcia at Malacanang Palace.

Getting into the spirit of things in these islands, Eisenhower wore a barong Tagalog to the dinner. This lightweight embroidered shirt, hanging outside the trousers, is the most fashionable garb for men at evening social affairs here. The long-sleeved shirts are worn buttoned at the neck without a tie. Eisenhower's beige barong was given him by Garcia.

Must Negotiate

Eisenhower was ruddy from Manila's hot sun. He nodded his head in rhythm as the Philippine army chorus sang a medley of his favorite songs.

In a toast to Garcia, Eisenhower said the nations of the world must continue to negotiate.

He called for an even more vigorous drive for peace in freedom and said free nations must be strong against possible aggression. "People who won't fight are never prepared," Eisenhower said.

Snail Seen 'Eater' In Plants

PETUNIA NOTES — Several readers tell us some "bug" is eating holes in the leaves of their petunia plants. It's likely this pest is the snail, a night worker which often leaves a slimy trail on the foliage. Dusting the plants and surrounding area with a good metaldehyde bait (most garden stores handle it) will do a lot to keep the snail population down.

Flea beetles also work on petunia foliage. Dusting plants with DDT, malathion or Methoxychlor does a fine job of keeping them off.

Don't forget to snip off the old faded blooms and seed pod structure on your petunias. This keeps them blooming better throughout the summer. Pulling the old bloom alone does no good. You must remove the entire structure.

Peat moss
Many gardeners do not like to use peat moss as a mulch because it crusts over and prevents water from soaking into the soil beneath. A little stirring will prevent this and we wouldn't want you to dislike peat because of its crusting property.

Peat is a fine conditioner, mulch and source of humus. It is low in nitrogen (3%), is slow to deteriorate, has no weeds, has hormones in it which helps increase root formation. It has a great ability to absorb and hold moisture. Dry peat sheds water, so it's a good idea to let peat weather outside so it'll be moist and ready for use.

Since peat can absorb at least 8 times more water than its own weight, you'll not want to use peat around such succulent items such as delphiniums, foxgloves, mums, etc. as it will cause rot.

For woody stemmed items there's no danger of this as a summer mulch. Apply peat 3 or 4 inches thick. Peat makes a good covering for a sawdust mulch, for those who object to the color of sawdust. Next week: Are wood chips any good to use?

Poison Ivy

This has been a good year for poison ivy, a handsome vine you'll find growing up trees and even trellises on some homes. It's spread by birds, nursery-grown shrubs and by top soil. Poison ivy is not easy to lick. I've tried various means and none is 100% perfect. Boiling salt water poured on the vines is one way. A weedburner does a good job, but you must keep after it, as new growth may come back. A commercial mixture of 2-4-D and 2,4,5-T (brush-killer) can also be used. Follow directions on the container. Ammonia weedkiller, 1 lb. to a gal. of water, drenched onto the vine, will kill it. Wet the foliage thoroughly. Spray when leaves are fully grown, from June to August. Chemicals are not as effective during dry periods. Repeat application when new growth occurs. If roots are not completely killed, new growth will appear in late summer.

Tomato End Rot

What causes tomatoes to develop "blossom end rot" or "dry rot," as gardeners call it? Blossom-end rot is a nonparasitic disease. It occurs most commonly when the plants have grown under favorable conditions during the early part of the season and are then subjected to a long period of drought at the time the fruits are in an early stage of development.

Under such conditions the cells at the blossom end fail to receive sufficient water to support growth and break-down and shrinkage occurs. Oddly enough, even though you can get blossom-end rot from dry weather, you can also get it after periods of unusually abundant rainfall. Plants receiving too much nitrogen are especially susceptible to blossom-end rot. Suggestions: Mulch your tomatoes during the summer, and during dry spells keep the soil moisture content up. Spraying will not help.

Incidentally, this is a good time for many foliage diseases to flare up on tomatoes. Be on the lookout for early blight, appearing as spots on older leaves. Spots are brownish-black, irregularly circular and enlarge to 1/4 to 1/2 inch in diameter.

Septoria leaf spot is another, appearing later. Look for small, water-soaked, roughly circular spots up to 1/2 inch in diameter. Both diseases must be prevented—they cannot be cured. So spray your tomatoes with a copper compound, or use Zineb or Captan, at the rate of 2 level tablespoons to a gallon of water. Spray the plants thoroughly, especially the undersides of foliage. If you do not spray on undersides you may not get control. Incidentally, use the above spray for cucumbers, melons, peppers and other crops susceptible to foliage diseases.

Evergreens
Why do evergreens turn yellowish this time of year? If evergreens planted last fall are turning brownish yellow now, chances are the trouble is due to death of the plants. Overall yellowing is a sure sign. However, if the needles turn yellowish on the inside and are shed-

Question Box

QUESTION OF THE WEEK:
D.E. of Stroudsburg: "Last year some of my newly set strawberry plants started wilting in June, and finally they died. I bought new plants and set them out this spring. Now the same thing has happened to them. What causes this?"

This strawberry plant killer is known as "Summer Dying," or Verticillium wilt, found in most gardens where strawberries are grown. Summer dying is becoming worse because of ding, it's nothing serious. That's normal for evergreens to shed from the inside. Japanese Yews are showing yellow foliage on the inside, but it's nothing to be alarmed about. The time to worry is when the outside leaves are yellowing all over.

The increasing popularity of highly susceptible varieties such as Pocahontas, Dixieland, and others. Symptoms: Wilt develops in early June. When it develops fast, symptoms suggest too much fertilizer, grubs eating the roots, or a lack of water in soil. Outer leaves of diseased plants have a dull, grayish green color and lie close to the ground, in contrast to the bright green and upright leaves of normal plants. Usually affected leaves turn reddish and dark lesions may be present on the stems and runners. Outer leaves wither and die until the plant is dead. Some plants outlive it, but leaves are smaller and spindly side crowns may develop. If runner plants are well rooted before the mother plant dies, they'll often continue to grow and appear to be healthy.

Verticillium is a mold in soils, capable of killing a great variety of plants, including fruit trees, cane fruits, potatoes, tomatoes, eggplants and weeds. The disease spores live in soils for many years. Well over 75 percent of a very susceptible variety may be wiped out in a garden spot previously growing tomatoes.

Control
Rotate your crop every 4 years, planting immune crops such as grain or grass to reduce the verticillium population. Soil sterilization is not recommended. Try growing resistant varieties. In New Jersey tests, the most resistant varieties tested were Vermilion, Catskill, Cavalier, Surecrop and Robinson. Moderately resistant were Premier (Howard 17), Temple and Blakemore. Among most susceptible were Dixieland, Sparkle, Midland, Pocahontas and Jersey Belle. Avoid planting strawberries after such crops as tomatoes, potatoes and

Keystone Will Fight Proposal

HARRISBURG (AP)—The state will oppose a proposal in Congress which would delay construction on the Kinzua reservoir, Forests and Waters Secretary Maurice K. Goddard said Wednesday.

Goddard and representatives of several western Pennsylvania counties, are scheduled to attend a hearing of the Interior and Insular Affairs Committee in Washington, June 23.

The committee is considering a resolution which would hold up the Kinzua project until the feasibility of alternate sites is studied. The resolution contends that the federal government should not take Indian lands for a public works project.

Goddard, however, said he feels there has been sufficient investigation of the alternate plans. He said construction of the western Pennsylvania site should be pushed because of the great potential benefit.

The project is located on the Allegheny River in Warren and McKean counties. Besides flood control benefits, the project would create a major recreation area and stabilize the flow of the river.

Congress has appropriated 1.4 million dollars which is being used to relocate roads in the area. A bill appropriating 4 1/2 millions for initial construction has passed the House and gone to the Senate.

"Something New Everyday"

HAVE YOU TRIED THIS TENDERNESS TEST?

Only Batter Whipped Sunbeam can pass it!

1. ORDINARY BREAD tears unevenly, in jagged chunks, because it's mixed the old-fashioned way, a ton at a time. Uneven baking makes it less tender.

2. BATTER WHIPPED SUNBEAM BREAD tears smoothly, evenly. It's tender (even the crust!) because Sunbeam is mixed in small batches to lock in tender freshness.

Compare! Satisfy Yourself that Batter Whipped Sunbeam Bread is fresher and more flavorful!

Music Festival To Open Tonight

TONIGHT at 9 o'clock the Ninth Chamber Music Festival by the Curtis String Quartet begins its series of concerts at Tamiment in the Poconos.

For these distinguished musical events, Ben Josephson, director of Tamiment, has opened the gates of the resort to the people of this area, and is donating the gate receipts to benefit the Pocono Art Center.

Tickets for the series or individual concerts may still be obtained at the Penn-Stroud Hotel, at Wyckoffs in the shoe department, and at the gate, at concert time. Bus service is being arranged. For particulars, phone HA 1-3524 before 1 p.m.

No chamber music program would be complete without Mozart, and tonight's will start with Mozart's rewarding Quartet in D minor K 421.

Following it will be the Second Quartet by Persichetti, a contemporary.

Closing is the Franz Schubert Quartet in D minor, known as "Death and the Maiden."

This was first played in Vienna in 1826, and was not published until after Schubert's death. The popular song, "Death and the Maiden" was written when Schubert was 20 years old, and was later included in his D minor Quartet.

Concerts will also be played Friday night at 9, Saturday afternoon at 2, and Sunday morning at 10:30.

First Missile Death Reported

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A technician was killed Tuesday when a small explosive charge on a Titan missile blew up, igniting a flammable package. Nine other men suffered slight injuries.

The death was the first attributed to a missile accident in nearly 10 years of testing at this missile test center.

The Air Force Information Office identified the victim as Joseph G. Sibole, 24, of nearby Cocoa Beach.

Naptha Tank Burns 6 Hours

FREEDOM, Pa. (AP)—A huge tank housing thousands of gallons of naptha burst into flames and burned for six hours Tuesday at the Valvoline Refining Co.

An explosion ripped off the top of the 40-foot tank and started the raging fire.

Company officials said lightning may have sparked the explosion. The tank, containing 5,000 barrels of naptha, was half full.

Have Safe Vacation

Area schools and colleges have closed for the Summer recess. That means that most families are now free to plan their annual vacations.

Highways soon will be crowded with people starting out or returning from vacation trips. The time is apropos, therefore, to point out that the best way to make certain of having a restful, pleasure-filled and safe holiday is to take it easy.

Far too many drivers use up their vacations speeding along and trying to cover many more miles than they should in any hour or in any day. Naturally, then, they return home so greatly fatigued that they really should take another vacation to rest up from the first one.

Some restraint and a more leisurely pace all around will insure motorist-vacationers returning rested and refreshed... which, after all, is the reason for vacations. Here are some suggestions for lessening fatigue and increasing travel enjoyment:

Drive during the early part of the day, when traffic usually is lighter and the weather cooler.

Stop early enough in the afternoon to insure suitable accommodations.

Drive on the upper half of the gas tank, then running out of fuel won't be a problem in more remote areas.

Keep vacuum bottles filled with milk or fresh water.

Change seats with other passengers or stop the car and take a 15-minute 'stretch' every so often.

Be sure to take along games and similar items of amusement for the children.

Off The Record

By Robert Clark, City Editor

Rowena Stevens did up a party for the press, radio and television folks in big league style the other night. The owner of the Pocono Playhouse hosted more than 100 tub-thumpers at George Colovos's classy High Point Inn.

From the cocktail party right through a delicious roast beef dinner and later a performance at the playhouse, Mrs. Stevens and her publicity sidekick, Dixie Lee proved to the writers and spellers that the stage season was kicked off just as good as any Broadway affair.

If Mrs. Stevens' coming shows are half as good as her Elsa Maxwell shindig then a successful season is assured.

Speaking of parties, Tommy Connors and his missus threw one for son Davey who graduated from Stroud Union High the other eve.

The guest list looked like a who's who in the sporting world with the top athletes of the Mountaineers present.

Dave was a crack full-back at Stroudsburg before a bad knee curtailed his playing days last season.

Les Slutsky has his arm back in a sling again. The popular Stroudsburg guy has been on the injured list for quite a spell with a painful arm injury.

Les is awaiting medical advice of whether an operation will be necessary on the ailing wing.

Ray Price, Jr. is a bird lover but the mother and father of an oriole are getting quite peeved.

The other day Ray aided an injured baby oriole and cared for it, hoping to get the ill flyer back on its feet again.

However, the mommy and daddy of the oriole aren't happy that their little one is away in the care of a big man.

Ray plans to give the oriole back to its parents as soon as it returns to good health.

Try and Stop Me

Hermione Gingold, reports Joe Hyams, thinks American visitors to London spend too much time mastering the intricacies of British currency. "Don't bother about it," she advises. "Either buy nothing that costs less than a pound, or be gracious and let the other fellow pick up the check."

"One of the great thrills London affords," she continues, "is the opportunity to get into a taxicab without lying down, and to get out without ripping half your clothing. And the lovely keepsakes an American can find to bring home to his loved ones: Popular are sports cars, jet planes, atomic reactors, and angry young men. Take your pick!"

The Pennsylvania Story

Long Convention

By Mason Denison

Harrisburg — There may be some hungry Pennsylvania delegates before the 1960 Democratic National Convention closes shop next month in far off Los Angeles.

This rather tasteless fact appears in the offing at this point at least - for some of the less financially well-heeled members of the 162 Keystone delegate bloc, if the fears and trepidations privately of a number of Democratic chieftains here on Capitol Hill are to be accepted as an indication.

Reason for this possibility of feast and famine among the 162 ominally healthy brethren from Pennsylvania who will gather July 11 for the opening of the nominating convention lies in the fact that there is every possibility the convention may be one of those extended affairs.

Unless the question of who is to be the Democratic presidential standardbearer is resolved within the first or second day of roll calling, chances are good the convention may last for one of those "extended" periods of time.

Should such a deadlock develop, delegations from not only Pennsylvania but other states as well unquestionably will find themselves on the slimming down side.

To go to a convention today - a presidential convention, that is - requires at least a nominal modest financial sack, especially when they wobble over to the realm of long drawn out affairs.

According to our good friend and fellow columnist down in Washington, Ed Koterba, the cost item will be a somewhat frightful affair - even from the beginning. Hotel and food rates apparently are destined to be doubled - or better (or worse, depending on how you look at it).

All of this of course is aside from the fact that the delegates have to get there in the first place, and the fare to California in anything but the overland stage, is not to be leered at these days.

Back in April Governor Lawrence was asked at one of his press conferences whether he thought a Democratic candidate would be nominated on the first ballot, to which the Governor, who heads the Pennsylvania delegation, replied simply: "No."

At a press conference early this month he was again asked virtually the same question, i.e., "Do you feel there will be a unanimous vote on the first ballot from Pennsylvania?" Again his answer was:

"No - I think there will be votes for all these candidates." Asked on what ballot he thought a candidate might be selected, he replied:

"I have no idea." He recalled the Democratic convention of 1924 when there were 103 ballots:

"We gathered some money to take delegates and the alternates and we had a few workers. Well, we were sort of thinking about being there for a week."

At the end of the week we sent the workers home and we just had the delegates and the alternates for the second week. At the end of the second week, we sent the alternate delegates home. So there was nobody there but the eight delegates. The money ran out."

"That might happen again?" he was asked by a reporter.

"Yes, it might," was the Governor's reply.

Well - there may be some hungry Pennsylvania delegates before the 1960 convention closes shop if the present split over candidates can be accepted as any indication.

The Allen-Scott Report

Blast Stunned GOP

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott

Washington — President Eisenhower was jolted even more severely than other Republican leaders by Gov. Nelson Rockefeller's bombshell attack on Vice President Nixon.

"I was stunned at Nelson's statement," the President told GOP congressional leaders at a White House briefing before departing for the Far East. "During our breakfast meeting, the Governor never once intimated to me that he planned to attack the Vice President."

The President also revealed that Rockefeller's slashing attack on his defense budget caught him completely off guard.

"Nelson informed me that he was going to speak out on the vital issues of the day, including our defense needs," reported the President. "But he never once mentioned that he favored increasing the defense budget by $3.5 billion. I got the definite impression from our conversations that he favored only a small increase in military spending."

"His statement sure knocked me for a loop," said Senate GOP Minority Leader Everett Dirksen (R., Ill.). "I read the full text when I got up the other morning at 5:30 a. m. What do you suppose caused him to make such an attack on your defense budget?"

"I'm really baffled by it," replied the President. "I have known Nelson for a number of years and I personally like him. He usually knows what he is talking about. But I am at a complete loss to know on what he bases this attack."

Then the President, turning to Defense Secretary Thomas Gates, remarked:

"Nelson should know that Secretary Gates and I have the defense budget under constant review. That's why he is here today. I want to find out his thinking on whether we need the extra billion dollars that the Senate Appropriations Committee has just voted. We are studying this all the time and Nelson should know that."

"I can't see how his statement will do anything but hurt our relations abroad," suggested Senator Dirksen. "It will produce new fears among our allies that we are lagging behind the Russians."

"I fully subscribe to that view," said Secretary Gates. "Rockefeller's statement will definitely hurt us in our relations with the NATO nations because his views carry great weight in some very influential European circles."

"I may have to answer part of that statement publicly when I return from the Far East," declared the President. "I've already told the Vice President how shocked I was over the content and tone of Nelson's remarks. If I had known his attack was coming, I would have objected to that statement being made. As it happened, I didn't learn about it until one of my aides showed me the press account."

The Poker Player — Governor Rockefeller also kept other Republican leaders in the dark right up until the moment he dropped his political bombshell.

For instance, Sen. Kenneth Keating (R., N.Y.), one of Nixon's top backers, didn't learn about the attack, even though he rode to New York in the Governor's private plane only a few hours before Rockefeller cut loose.

"I had no idea that Rockefeller was going to blast Nixon," Keating later told Senate friends. "I caught a ride to New York with him after his meeting with the President. The Governor never spoke to me during the trip. He spent the entire flight conferring with Emmet Hughes (a former Eisenhower adviser)."

"When others on the plane told me that the Governor was planning to speak out on the issues later in the day, I drafted and gave out a statement to the press saying that I thought this was a healthy thing for the party. I never dreamed he was going to attack my candidate."

Senator Keating also revealed that Rockefeller didn't show his full hand at the private meeting of the state Republican executive committee held at the Roosevelt hotel just prior to his press conference.

Sen. Jacob Javits (R., N.Y.), who attended the same meeting, also reported that he was caught by complete surprise by Rockefeller's later statement.

The Wind Up — Democratic Congressional leaders have set July as the target date for adjournment of this Congress. By that date, they plan to pass and send to the White House legislation boosting the minimum wage from $1 to $1.25; a billion dollar school construction bill; a new housing measure; a medical care program for the aged; a seven and one-half percent pay boost for postal and government employees; extension of wartime corporation and excise taxes; ratification of the U.S.-Japanese Mutual Defense Treaty; and all appropriation bills, including $3.5 billion for the President's foreign aid program. The latter program will be $600 million less than the $4.1 billion that the President requested.

Elliot Norton, the Boston drama critic, describes summer theatres as "one massive display of gall." (Critics are sooo critical) . . . The 1959-60 theatre season offered eight straight comedies. All were flopanozas. A very unfunny year for comedy. . . . The Herald-Tribune's aisleman dismissed an Off-Broadway effort with "The sort of play that many a bright boy on campus comes up with in the course of sowing his Wilde oats." . . . "Gypsy" netted $400,000 in a year. . . .

Look mag reports Bing Crosby is worth a mere $25 million. It's a conservative estimate. Roberto Hope is not far behind in the tycoon sweepstakes. . . . Leslie Caron's hard as nails philosophy: "I got what I have now through knowing the right time to tell terrible people to go to hell."

ing for the Far East. "During our breakfast meeting, the Governor never once intimated to me that he planned to attack the Vice President."

The President also revealed that Rockefeller's slashing attack on his defense budget caught him completely off guard.

"Nelson informed me that he was going to speak out on the vital issues of the day, including our defense needs," reported the President. "But he never once mentioned that he favored increasing the defense budget by $3.5 billion. I got the definite impression from our conversations that he favored only a small increase in military spending."

"His statement sure knocked me for a loop," said Senate GOP Minority Leader Everett Dirksen (R., Ill.). "I read the full text when I got up the other morning at 5:30 a. m. What do you suppose caused him to make such an attack on your defense budget?"

"I'm really baffled by it," replied the President. "I have known Nelson for a number of years and I personally like him. He usually knows what he is talking about. But I am at a complete loss to know on what he bases this attack."

Then the President, turning to Defense Secretary Thomas Gates, remarked:

"Nelson should know that Secretary Gates and I have the defense budget under constant review. That's why he is here today. I want to find out his thinking on whether we need the extra billion dollars that the Senate Appropriations Committee has just voted. We are studying this all the time and Nelson should know that."

"I can't see how his statement will do anything but hurt our relations abroad," suggested Senator Dirksen. "It will produce new fears among our allies that we are lagging behind the Russians."

"I fully subscribe to that view," said Secretary Gates. "Rockefeller's statement will definitely hurt us in our relations with the NATO nations because his views carry great weight in some very influential European circles."

"I may have to answer part of that statement publicly when I return from the Far East," declared the President. "I've already told the Vice President how shocked I was over the content and tone of Nelson's remarks. If I had known his attack was coming, I would have objected to that statement being made. As it happened, I didn't learn about it until one of my aides showed me the press account."

The Poker Player — Governor Rockefeller also kept other Republican leaders in the dark right up until the moment he dropped his political bombshell.

For instance, Sen. Kenneth Keating (R., N.Y.), one of Nixon's top backers, didn't learn about the attack, even though he rode to New York in the Governor's private plane only a few hours before Rockefeller cut loose.

"I had no idea that Rockefeller was going to blast Nixon," Keating later told Senate friends. "I caught a ride to New York with him after his meeting with the President. The Governor never spoke to me during the trip. He spent the entire flight conferring with Emmet Hughes (a former Eisenhower adviser)."

"When others on the plane told me that the Governor was planning to speak out on the issues later in the day, I drafted and gave out a statement to the press saying that I thought this was a healthy thing for the party. I never dreamed he was going to attack my candidate."

Senator Keating also revealed that Rockefeller didn't show his full hand at the private meeting of the state Republican executive committee held at the Roosevelt hotel just prior to his press conference.

Sen. Jacob Javits (R., N.Y.), who attended the same meeting, also reported that he was caught by complete surprise by Rockefeller's later statement.

The Wind Up — Democratic Congressional leaders have set July as the target date for adjournment of this Congress. By that date, they plan to pass and send to the White House legislation boosting the minimum wage from $1 to $1.25; a billion dollar school construction bill; a new housing measure; a medical care program for the aged; a seven and one-half percent pay boost for postal and government employees; extension of wartime corporation and excise taxes; ratification of the U.S.-Japanese Mutual Defense Treaty; and all appropriation bills, including $3.5 billion for the President's foreign aid program. The latter program will be $600 million less than the $4.1 billion that the President requested.

Elliot Norton, the Boston drama critic, describes summer theatres as "one massive display of gall." (Critics are sooo critical) . . . The 1959-60 theatre season offered eight straight comedies. All were flopanozas. A very unfunny year for comedy. . . . The Herald-Tribune's aisleman dismissed an Off-Broadway effort with "The sort of play that many a bright boy on campus comes up with in the course of sowing his Wilde oats." . . . "Gypsy" netted $400,000 in a year. . . .

reaching its verdict. Within hours a military appeals court

State Audits
Two Area
Districts

HARRISBURG—Audits were made in Blooming Grove and Lackawanna Township School Districts by the Auditor General's Department at the direction of the Attorney General in her recent interpretation of the Fiscal Code.

Expenditures from the General Fund of Blooming Grove Township School District for the school year ending July 6, 1958 were $31,673.13 and the state reimbursements and subsidies received during the school year were $6,331.80.

Disbursements were not supported by school orders and only one signature appeared on checks.

The checks should carry the signature of president, secretary and treasurer.

It was also found that there was no bond carried on the school board secretary as required in section 431 of the School Code.

In a comparison of budgeted and actual expenditures it was revealed that in some cases amounts appropriated for particular items of budgeted expenditures were over-expended.

Recommendations

The Auditor General recommended, "That transfers of appropriations of particular items of expenditures be effected in accordance with Section 609 of the School Code to correct this situation."

It was also noted that in the minutes of the school board meeting information was not completed regarding the solicitations and acceptance of bids for supplies purchased.

Audit of transportation reimburseable to the District indicated lack of control in accounting for pupils transported and the distances these pupils reside from school. The Auditor General's office was unable to determine from the records available whether the district was receiving reimbursements to which it was not entitled.

It was recommended by Auditor General, "To institute the procedures designed to reflect accurately the number of pupils for whom the District is entitled to reimbursement under the provisions of Section 2541 of the School Code."

On going over the invoices supporting disbursements there was no evidence found of receipt of merchandise or of verification of mathematical accuracy and prices on the invoices.

Cash expenditures revealed that entries were transcribed in cash journals in non-permanent form and data references not complete.

In the Lackawanna Township School District report it was shown that expenditures from the general fund for the school year ending July 6, 1958 were $73,242.53 and the state reimbursements totaled $26,798.65.

Over-Expended

In the comparison of budgeted and actual expenditures revealed, the same as Blooming Grove Township School Board, some items were over-expended.

Determined by direct correspondence with the depository indicated that collateral security provided by the bank did not total 120 percent of the deposits secured, as required by Section 622 (b) of the School Code.

It was recommended that the school board advise the bank of this provision of the School Code and require this coverage at all times.

In a review of the minutes, the same error was noted as was found in Blooming Grove Township School District, solicitations and acceptance of bids on supplies purchased was not complete.

Further examination of the transportation and cash expenditures proved to be the same as Blooming Grove Township.

Step Up Park Unit Plans

THE continuing effort to establish a park commission in Stroud Township will be made this week when letters soliciting interest in the program will be mailed. Chairman of the park commission steering group, Mrs. Perry Stearns, said that approximately 75 people thus far show interest in its creation.

The list will then be presented to the Stroud Township supervisors and they in turn will select 24 names at random from the list. It will be up to the supervisors discretion to select from five to seven names from this list to serve on the park commission.

Mrs. Stearns has reported "overwhelming interest by the local people in the project." She said that "many have expressed hope that the park commission be successful."

She has also reported that no special requirements are necessary for the list. The only requirement is the willingness to serve on the commission.

The steering committee hopes to present this list of names to the supervisors at their next meeting on July 6.

Four new members have been added to this steering group. The latest persons named are Dale Learn, Robert Harvey, Mrs. Elwood Grant and Mrs. William A. Anderson. These people will join the original group of people interested in the project.

The group is composed of: Mrs. Richard Lindroth, John Cruse, Ralph Knauf, R. C. Cramer, Edward Buck, Robert E. Decker, Norman Dietrick and Jesse Haynes.

Dr. Marjorie Smith, professor of geography at East Stroudsburg State College and Eugene McNamara, district forester, act as advisers to the park commission.

The park commission is defined as a legal body appointed by the township supervisors for a term of office prescribed by law and administer recreational duties in the area.

The committee's immediate objectives are to clean up and

Cleared Of Cruelty Charge

PORT ELIZABETH, South Africa (AP)—Would be toreador Daniel Grundling, 26, who staged a mock bullfight with real bulls last year, has been cleared of a charge of cruelty to animals in South Africa's first and only go at the Spanish spectacle. Noting it was bloodless, the magistrate freed him with the comment that some other "so-called sports" such as steeplechasing, fox-hunting and rugby are more cruel than his bullfight.

Dear Abby

Argument Settled

Dear Abby: Will you please settle a dispute of long standing? Every time my husband and I drive through Cairo, Illinois, we see a statue standing in the park just off the main highway.

My husband says it is a man cutting wood, and I say it is a man killing a snake. He says, "Whoever heard of anybody putting up a statue of a man for killing a snake?" And I say, "Whoever heard of putting up a statue of a man for cutting wood?"

Are we both wrong? I don't have time to look up Cairo's history. I am busy making history myself as we have ten children. Thank you.

KATHLEEN B. Dear Kathleen: Your husband is right. The statue is a very famous one, called The Hewer, and it is indeed a monument to a man cutting wood.

Dear Abby: Had to giggle at the old gag who was so hurt because she was referred to as an "old maid."

Many of my single friends are far happier than my married ones. At least they don't have to put up with some crotchety old grouch after 8 hours at the office. Old maids are luckier than they think.

ONE, TOO.

Dear Abby: I am 43 and have been married and divorced and have two children to support. Four years ago I met a married man (he is now 46) who told me his wife didn't understand him, but he'd never divorce her because of their three minor children.

I thought if he wasn't happy with her I might as well have him, so for two years I heckled his wife with mysterious phone calls and letters telling her her husband didn't love her and was stepping out. She finally divorced him last December.

We have been seeing each other constantly, but now that he is free he still won't marry me. I found out he is trying to get his ex-wife back. I would do anything to get this man to marry me, as he is well-to-do and I would not have to work. After being a wife to him every way but legally, can I sue him for not marrying me?

WANTS SECURITY

Dear Abby: If you want to know your legal rights — see a lawyer. On second thought, why don't you just head for the rocks and join the rest of the snakes?

Confidential to Mr. and Mrs. "Childless": Deal only with a legitimate adoption agency. A shady transaction such as the one you are considering is illegal and could net you one big headache.

"What's your problem?" Write to Abby in care of this paper. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Abby's best-selling book, "Dear Teen-Ager," is on sale at all bookstores.

Harness Track Law Analyzed

HARRISBURG (AP) — The language of Pennsylvania's 1959 harness racing law was analyzed at length Wednesday in arguments on the act's legality before a six-judge panel in Dauphin County Court.

Representatives of the Lord's Day Alliance are challenging the constitutionality of the act. They are William P. Heuchert, Philadelphia; Foster J. Cisney, McConellsburg, and Laurence Higley, Forksville.

During nearly two hours of argument, the court asked both sides in the case to interpret the law, particularly these questions:

(1) Can it be said that the law is prejudicial in view of a provision that at least 5,000 registered voters in a county must sign a petition to hold a referendum on whether to legalize parimutuel harness race betting?

(2) What did the Legislature mean by requiring that approval in any county must be by "a majority of the electorate?"

(3) What restriction does the law put on the Harness Racing Commission by saying "no more than one corporation can be licensed in any one year" to operate a parimutuel track?

President Judge William H. Neely said he thought the first question was important.

"I don't recall any statute that makes a geographical basis for distinction," he told Harry Rossi of Philadelphia, deputy attorney general on the racing commission. He asked Rossi:

"We have various laws in Pennsylvania now governing gambling. Suppose all these laws were repealed and a new one passed giving certain privileges to say, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Scranton, and not to other areas. Would that be a good law?"

Rossi replied that whereas the wisdom of such a law could possibly be questioned, its constitutionality could not be "and that is what we are asked to decide in this case." He said he interpreted the law as legalizing parimutuel betting statewide "with the additional provision that the voters in the counties approve."

Neely said he couldn't see where the law, as written, legalizes harness betting on a statewide basis.

Rev. Hunter Is Elected To Presbyterian Position

GROVE CITY, Pa. (AP)—Delegates to the United Presbyterian Synod of Pennsylvania Wednesday elected The Rev. Austin V. Hunter of Meadville stated clerk for a 3-year term.

They elected two other officers and chairmen of various committees. Officers and chairmen of the Pennsylvania Synodical Society—the Synod's women's counterpart—were also elected.

The Rev. Livingston A. Gordon of New Brighton was elected permanent clerk for three years and The Rev. Franklin M. Mayer of Harrisburg was named treasurer for one year.

Named chairman of committees included:

Finance, The Rev. Horace T. Allen, Philadelphia; Christian education, The Rev. William G. Rusch, Washington; ministerial relations, The Rev. Henry B. Strook Jr., New Castle; Presbyterian life, The Rev. A. Frederick Hush, Philadelphia; radio and television, The Rev. R. Craig Koedel, Cornopolis; executive service, The Rev. Robert T. Williamson, Easton; and chaplains and service personnel, The Rev. Harvey Smith, Lock Haven.

Mrs. S. Stanford Elwell of Philadelphia was chosen secretary by delegates attending the Synodical Society.

Named heads of committees: Fellowship, Mrs. Harry W. Pedicord, Philadelphia; Westminster fellowship, Mrs. Daniel B. Ewelland, Canonsburg; united church women, Mrs. Robert McClure Jr., Johnstown; spiritual life and stewardship, Mrs. Thomas B. Server, New Wilmington; world's service, Mrs. Walter Clyde, Pittsburgh; and nominating, Mrs. Charles H. Yardley, Philadelphia.

Refer Dispute

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — Argentina will request Wednesday a special U.N. Security Council meeting to consider its dispute with Israel over the Adolf Eichmann case, diplomatic sources said Tuesday night.

contended the requirement for at least 5,000 voters' names on a referendum petition violates the constitution since Cameron, Forest, Fulton and Sullivan counties have fewer than that many voters.

Rossi argued the Legislature was within its right to make such a classification "when it is a rational one." He said the four counties couldn't economically support a harness track at this time. But he said they may increase in population in coming years and thereby qualify under the law.

Rossi contended the "majority of the electorate" means the majority of those actually voting.

Robert D. Abrahams of Philadelphia, counsel for the plaintiffs, said it meant the majority of those registered to vote.

VA Office To Remain Open Late

A. G. PALMER, manager of the Wilkes-Barre Veterans Administration Regional Office, announced yesterday that all VA offices in the Wilkes-Barre area would remain open until midnight, June 30.

The late closing of these offices is done to assure that all veterans, widows, and children who may be eligible will not be denied their last opportunity to file claim under the old pension laws.

Public Law 86-211, which becomes effective July 1, raises the income limitations, however, a graduated scale of benefits is provided depending on the various income levels. In some instances it might be to the advantage of the individual to qualify under the old pension laws, Palmer said.

Weather Outlook

EXTENDED forecast for Thursday, June 16 through Monday, June 20:

Eastern Pennsylvania, eastern New York and Middle Atlantic states—Temperatures will average normal to 4 degrees below normal. Cooler Saturday and Sunday, otherwise temperatures will be near normal. Scattered showers Friday and Saturday and again about Monday will average 1/2 to one inch.

Western Pennsylvania, western New York and West Virginia — Temperatures will average normal to 4 degrees below normal. Cooler Friday and Saturday with a warming trend Sunday and Monday. A few showers scattered over the area daily will average 1/2 to one inch.

Yellow Rains

MOSCOW (AP) — Izvestia, the government newspaper, quotes scientific evidence to assure people of the Georgian Republic the bright yellow rains that stain their houses, trees and vehicles are non-toxic and harmless. It says the rains are hued by drift from Mideast dust storms, as were yellow—and even red—snows last winter.

Blakeslee

Mrs. J. M. Stark and her sister, Mrs. John Thomas attended the Children's Day exercises at Edwards Memorial Church, Edwarsville Sunday morning.

The George Kerriek family reported their new daughter, Barbara Low, is still in the General Hospital, East Stroudsburg and is steadily gaining weight.

Funeral Notices

BOWMAN, Maude E., of East Stroudsburg, June 15, 1960. Aged 71 years. Relatives and friends are respectfully invited to attend funeral services Sunday, June 19 at 2:30 p.m. from the Lanterman Funeral Home. Interment in the Stroudsburg Cemetery. Price-Earnings Ratio

Q. I have been advised to study the "price-earnings ratio" of stock for the past seven years to help me decide whether or not to buy the stock. How can I get the prices and earnings of individual stocks for the past seven years? How do I calculate and evaluate price-earnings ratios? Also, is this good advice?

A. Yes, it is good advice. The seven-year span seems to be an arbitrary sort of thing. You might do it for five years, 10 years or any other period you choose.

William A. Doyle Moody's. You can get the records on prices and earnings of stocks from the statistical manuals — such as Standard & Poor's, Fitch's and Moody's.

Here's how you calculate a price-earnings ratio. Suppose that XYZ Co. common stock is now quoted in the market at $20 a share. Suppose that XYZ Co. reported net earnings of $2 per common share for the past 12 months. XYZ common stock would have a price-earnings ratio of 10-to-one.

Or, it could be said that the stock is selling at 10 times earnings. That's another way of expressing the same thought. By checking back on past price-earnings ratios, you can find how stocks have performed in relation to their earnings over the long haul. After all, earnings are just about the most important measurement of a stock's true value.

Q. On April 14 I ordered 200 shares of a certain stock through a local brokerage firm. The next day I received a bill. I paid it by check immediately. It stated that my order had been filled on April 14 at $50.25 a share.

I didn't receive my stock certificate until May 14, when it arrived in the mail. The certificate was dated May 9. On May 9, the stock was quoted at from $49 to $49.75 a share. Should I get a credit from the broker for the difference between the higher price I paid and the lower price that prevailed on May 9?

A. No. That "bill" you received was really a "confirmation slip." It was a statement from the broker confirming that he had purchased for you 200 shares of the stock at $50.25 a share on April 14. You became the owner of the stock on that date and that was the price at which you bought it.

As has been explained here before, it is not unusual for several weeks to elapse between the time you buy stock and the issue and delivery of the stock certificate.

Q. You have written about setting up trusts from time to time. My wife and I would like to set up a trust fund for the education of our four young sons. We believe that a trust fund would save on taxes and would protect the boys should one or both of us die. How should we proceed? A. By going straight to a lawyer. A trust fund is one of the finest methods of accomplishing what you have in mind — especially from the tax angle. However, everytime they have been mentioned in this space it has always been stressed that a lawyer is necessary in setting up a trust fund.

(Mr. Doyle will answer only representative letters of general interest in his column. He cannot answer phone queries.)

State Police Probe Mishap

STATE Police from the Stroudsburg station investigated an accident at 2:20 a.m. Wednesday on Route 209 in Hamilton Township.

William E. McDonough, 25, of 100 Wimmer St., Dunmore, was operating a truck traveling west on 209 and came upon a car stopped on the highway. He applied his breaks and due to wet highways the truck skidded off the left side of the road.

A load of battery lead, in the trailer, shifted and caused the truck to go out of control and went down an embankment.

Police did not report the amount of damage.

ALL IN A DAY'S WORK—Jana, guiding-eye dog, picks up handkerchief dropped by his blind mistress, Mrs. Helen Tullis, during safety meeting at Tobyhanna Signal Depot yesterday.

Blind Woman Uses Dog To Teach Safety Rules

Sixty percent of the thousands of people killed in pedestrian traffic accidents each year are children under age 14.

This statement was emphasized by Mrs. Helen Tullis of the Maryland Traffic Safety Commission at a meeting yesterday at the Tobyhanna Signal Depot.

Speaking before the Pennsylvania Capitol District of the Federal Safety Council, Mrs. Tullis, who is blind, told of her work with school children and adults in Maryland.

"I found," she said, "that the children were more interested in my guiding-eye dog, Jana, than anything else. So I showed them how well-trained Jana was, how she carried out orders and always followed safety rules."

Jana, a four-year-old German Shepherd, was at her side as she spoke to the more than 100 safety representatives and depot officers. Later, Mrs. Tullis put Jana through "some of her tricks" to the delight of her adult audience.

Jana is Mrs. Tullis' third guiding-eye dog. Her first, Prince, a tri-colored collie, was killed by a tractor trailer in 1956 while pulling Mrs. Tullis back to the safety of a curb.

Her second, Jeff, another Shepherd, couldn't make the grade as a guiding-eye dog and had to be returned for more training.

"In crossing a street," Mrs. Tullis said, "I use my ears and Jana uses her eyes. When my ears tell me that traffic is clear, I tell Jana 'Forward,' and if she thinks it's O.K., she leads me across. While crossing the street,

I cease giving orders. It's all up to Jana then. She's a wonderful friend and teacher."

Depot Commander Col. Lester W. Kale thanked Mrs. Tullis for her talk and compared her to a doctor or minister who "only try to help people."

"The older I get," he said, "the more I realize the only thing that's really worth doing is helping others."

"Just Wear a Smile and a Jantzen" is the slogan of the world's foremost manufacturer of casual and swim wear, and we at Wyckoff's are willing to spread the word—and the smile—this week particularly. Why not? We not only have a glorious assortment of Jantzens in our store, but Miss Jantzen in person... charming and shapely, to wear not only the loveliest smiles but the loveliest Jantzens we've ever seen.

Miss Jantzen was an honored guest last year at the Hadassah-Wyckoff fashion show at Tamiment. What's more she'll be back again this year, not just modeling the Jantzens of 1960, but suits that were "in the swim" years ago, when the world, and Grandma, were a bit younger than they are today.

My own little daughter, trying on casual wear the other day, was charmed by Jantzens, and couldn't have been more excited had she been some eight or ten years older in the process of selecting a trousseau. The fact is, it would be very difficult indeed NOT to wear a smile when you wear a Jantzen. A Jantzen is comfortable. A Jantzen is moderately priced. A Jantzen is sleek and figure flattering. A Jantzen is the most terrific sight on the beach!

It is always a delight to see the new fashions months before they actually appear in the store. On my recent visit to the Simplicity Pattern Company I saw many swathes of fabrics that will be shown everywhere this Fall and Winter, and had a foretaste of the delectable colors—predominantly all shades of purple and violet—that will be such a vivid part of 60-into-61.

Everything I had heard about Fashions for the cold months ahead came into exciting reality the other Tuesday evening when, at the invitation of our fashion merchandising manager, William Wells, I attended our Kirby Block show in New York. Here, seated with Carrie Rusk, head of our sports wear department, and Cora Albertson, lingerie buyer, I took notes on all manner of apparel, so beautiful my fondest dreams were pale by comparison.

Every conceivable shade of lilac into royal purple was shown—difficult shades such as magenta among them. Then there were the more familiar shades—green—including an exciting "oriental jade," blue, brown, and such that are always popular... and a wonderful new gold tone known as "Smoky Topaz," terrific for brunettes, redheads, and I presume even blondes. Tweeds are softer and more colorful than in the past... wools, fleeces, and man-made furs are richer than ever... and many of the silks in cocktails and evening apparel have a frosty bronze overtone which is very elegant. Jet black sparked with white is, as always, a terrifically elegant combination and we saw it in faille walking suits, tweed, the silk Barathean pinafore tunic, velvet and lace, and Cecil Chapman's white satin Chanel jacket costume with crystal beaded bodice.

Generally speaking, fashion for '60-'61 favors the boxy silhouette with coats in 9/10 length; the flatteringly curved bustline treatment; huge plaids; longer jackets; leather belts that match one's dress or suit, but tie rather than buckle and self belts of fabric stitched into a rope; interesting sleeves such as the "telescope"; tunics; cropped jackets with skirts that are very, very full; lavish fur trims on coats, suits and dresses; box coats that are slightly slimmer than formerly but still full enough "to hide a multitude of sins," as the commentator put it; reversibles in suits and jackets; stoles, stoles and MORE STOLEs—both glamorous and practical, matching one's ensemble, or fur lined; metallic brocades and sequins for evening with greater emphasis on the long, formal gown than ever before. So, keep your eyes open and prepare for the most dazzling shopping spree you've ever enjoyed!

Brownies Join Ranks Of Scouts

Delaware Water Gap—The fly-up ceremony for the Brownies, held at the firehall Wednesday afternoon put seven girls in the Girl Scout group: Donna Widdoss, Carol Wilson, Donna Lehr, Patricia Werkheiser, Jennifer Seely, Nancy Richards and Yona Geschinsky.

It leaves only Phyllis Jennings, Roxanne Kaiser, Doris Widdoss as the Brownies who watched their friends fly up. Fall will see the ranks re-filled with small girls.

Mrs. Willard Jennings and Mrs. Robert Richards are Brownie leaders. Mrs. Jennings presented the new Girl Scouts with their wings and Mrs. Richards, their ties. Mrs. Ben Geschinsky received the ties from Mrs. Richards and put one on each new Scout.

During the social hour, games that had been planned by Phyllis Jennings and Nancy Richards were played with the mothers as contestants. Mrs. Francis Seely won the horseshoe contest; Mrs. LeRoy Kaiser, the ball and cans; Mrs. John Wilson, the pencil and bottle game; Mrs. Seely, the thumb-tack guessing.

The parents each drew a sketch of a new Scout, Jennifer Seely, and this contest was won by Mrs. Robert Lehr. In addition to the mothers named, present were Mrs. J. Werkheiser and Mrs. R. Widdoss. The girls served punch and cake to their guests.

Nugent, Banquet Highlight Third Day Of EPSC Clinic

TOM NUGENT broke the supposedly complicated Maryland football formation down into one syllable words Wednesday, as the Eastern Pennsylvania Scholastic Coaches Clinic headed into its next to last day.

Dave Nelson, Delaware, Ara Paraseghian, Northwestern and Ben Carnevale, Navy, conducted morning sessions, with Nugent working in the afternoon.

Bob Cousy, of the Boston Celtics, was unable to get a flight out of Worcester, Mass., because of weather conditions and his session was cancelled. Cousy, who became ill yesterday at his Massachusetts home with food poisoning, was scheduled for lectures Tuesday and Wednesday.

Winter Clinic

Clinic director Marty Baldwin said that because the clinic ends today, Cousy would not make an appearance but added that the Celtic star will put on a one-day clinic in Stroudsburg next winter.

Rip Miller, assistant athletic director at the U. S. Naval Academy addressed an audience of more than 200 people at the clinic's banquet at the Penn-Stroud last night.

Miller, who played under the great Knute Rockne at Notre Dame, told his audience, made up primarily of coaches, that "college football is a much bigger business than the big business it is supposed to be."

Miller explained: "College football is in competition with pro football for the fan's ticket money and the college teams must play the type of game that will draw fans."

Football Host

He continued, "football hosts a great many so-called minor sports. In order to run our program of 24 athletic teams at Navy, we must make money on football."

Miller rapped critics who say football is not a good sport, because only a few men can take part in the game. "Without football," he said "there would be no other sports for college athletes to participate in. Football foots the bill."

Before closing, Miller touched on recruiting. "When we recruit," he said, "we are trying to sell our product. We should bring recruiting in the open, so that the public doesn't get such a sordid view of it."

Simple System

Nugent, who says he is constantly asked how his players can remember the 50-plus formations the Terrapins use, answered that the system is not as complicated as it seems.

"We have about six basic formations that we use," he began "and we merely add slight variations. Our system of calling the formation and play simplifies the whole affair."

Mayland, uses numbers for its formations and names for its plays, the reverse of many school's signal systems.

Setting-up one of his formations, Nugent explained, "If we use a flanked left end, we call it 'east.' If the right end is flanked, we call it 'west.' If I want both tackles on the same side of the center, I call it 'strong' and if I want both the tackles and the guards on the same side of the center, I call it 'north.'"

Ends Today

Nugent continued: "If I wanted to use the 'EYE' formation, which we call our 'one' formation, with a flanked left end and both the guards on the left side of the center, I would designate the formation, 'East-One-Strong-Left.'"

Nugent also told the coaches that they should "put their strength against the other team's weakness. If you have a big boy, put him up against a small man. If you have a fast man, put him against a slow man."

The four-day clinic ends this afternoon. Nugent, Nelson and Carnevale work the morning sessions with Cousy's portion of the program, handling the final afternoon session.

Birds Tribe Split

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles opened the flood gates in the eighth inning of the nightcap Wednesday night, scoring eight runs on six hits, a pair of walks and two errors to whip Cleveland 13-5. The Indians captured the opener of a two-night doubleheader 10-2.

The Indians blew a 5-0 lead as Jim (Mudcat) Grant gave up a two-run homer by Gus Triandos in the seventh inning to tie it up 5-5, then fell completely apart in the wild eighth frame.

Twelve men came to the plate in the highest-scoring inning against Cleveland this season. Jim Busby clipped in with two doubles for two runs batted in, while Marv Breeding had one two-bagger and Bob Boyd, Triandos and Brooks Robinson smacked singles.

Grant Lifted

Grant finally was taken out, but his replacement, Johnny Briggs, was tagged for two singles, a sacrifice fly and a double before retiring Gene Woodling for the third out.

Ken Aspromonte made two errors — one a throwing miscue which permitted Baltimore to take a 6-5 lead. Relief pitcher Hoyt Wilhelm and Ron Hansen delivered a run apiece with sacrifice flies.

The opener was a breeze for Jim Perry (7-2) as he won his sixth straight with a six-hitter. He got home run support from John Romano, who hit a pair of two-run blows, and Woodie Held, who connected for his 12th round-tripper, also with one aboard.

Arnold Palmer Favored

Field Of 150 Shoots For U.S. Open Title

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

DENVER (AP)—Arnold Palmer, leading money-maker among the professionals, is the 4-1 choice to win the U.S. Open Golf Championship that opens Thursday over the 7,004 deceptively placid yards of the Cherry Hills Country Club.

One round Thursday and another on Friday over the meadow-like layout that has a par of 35-36 —71 will determine the 50 low scorers who will make a double charge on Saturday.

The man who uses the fewest strokes on the four rounds will succeed Bill Casper as the titleholder in the nation's most prestige-packed tourney.

He also will get a $14,400 cut of the prize money that has been upped to $90,000 because of the enthusiastic advance sale of tickets.

Seldom since the youthful day of Ben Hogan, now 47 and trying for a record fifth title, has anyone dominated pre-tournament talk as does Palmer, already winner of $32,203.40 this year and the champion at the Masters in April.

Yet, ironically, there have been few tournaments where there has been so much uncertainty. The thinness of the Denver air is the reason. Rip Arnold, pro at the host club which nestles in the foothills of the Rockies, says that the ball will travel 6 per cent farther here than at sea level.

Although this is the fifth longest course on which the Open ever has been played, Hogan says that its yardage would have to be stretched to 8,000 to make it a true test.

Snead Jinx
Casper, a superb putter, says the conditions are such that Sam

Snead, who has won 105 tournaments but never the Open in 20 years of trying, could break his jinx. Bruce Crampton, an Australian threat to the title which hasn't gone outside the United States in 40 years, says that "even a rabbit like me, if he is putting, could win."

A select field of 150, culled from a record entry list of 2,472 in a pair of elimination rounds, begins firing at 8 a.m. MST driving off the No. 1 tee.

Casper and Snead are 5-1 choices for the title the former won at Winged Foot, Mamaroneck, N.Y., a year ago. Hogan and Ken Venturi, a streaky pro now hot, are paired at 6-1.

Gene Littler, another young pro who suddenly has found his stroke again, and long-hitting Mike Souchak are grouped at 7-1 by the bettors in the huge galleries.

Mental Patient Now

LaMotta's Victor Remembers Nothing Of Fixed Fight

NEW YORK (AP) — Former light heavyweight contender Billy Fox, who won his first 43 fights by knockouts some 15 years ago was back in the headlines again Wednesday but he is not aware of it.

Fox also is oblivious to Jake LaMotta, who admitted to a congressional committee in Washington Tuesday that he took a "dive" in a fight with him on Nov. 14, 1947, on the promise of a shot at the middleweight championship. Fox "stopped" LaMotta in the fourth round of their fight at Madison Square Garden.

"s memory nearly gone, Fox, for the past month has been a mental patient in a Long Island hospital.

Bowery Ward

Before his admittance to the hospital, Fox, who won 57 of 64 fights, once fought Gus Lesnevich for the light heavyweight title, was a ward of the Bowery, seeking food and shelter wherever he could. Before that, he worked as a pinsetter and shoe shine boy in bowling alleys.

All this after earning more than a quarter of a million dollars in eight years of boxing.

Morning Postscripts

By Curt Prins
Sports Editor

Nugent, College's Bill Veeck

TOM NUGENT might well be called the Bill Veeck of college football.

For the handsome Maryland coach, with the long memory and big smile, has done some zany things to sell tickets to his ball games.

But Nugent is not just a promoter, who cares only about filling the stadium instead of the score board.

In his 19 years of coaching, he has never had a losing team and has turned out several conference champions.

The 45-year-old Nugent, who is often mistaken for North Carolina basketball coach Frank McGuire, because of their great facial resemblances, proved his coaching ability at Maryland.

Slated For Bad Season

The Terrapins in 1960 had less material than a bikini and were picked to win only one game and to finish next to last in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

But Nugent, after losing to Texas and Syracuse back to back early in the season, guided the Terps to a 5-5 season and third place in the conference. He was picked as the "Atlantic Coast Conference Coach of the Year".

Nugent almost broke the clinic wide open yesterday with the stories of his ticket selling promotions.

"One of my first promotions was when I was at Florida State. We had a helicopter bring the game ball into the stadium tied up with a big red ribbon. The pilot hovered just above the 40-yard line and handed the ball to the kickoff man. The fans bought tickets for the next game, just to see how we would start the game."

Not all of Nugent's hijinx were for the fans in attendance.

Fireworks For Stingy Fans

In a game against one of the weaker club on the schedule, Nugent had gigantic skyrockets placed at one end of the stadium. Every time Florida State scored the fireworks were touched off.

"I wanted to make sure that the people downtown who wouldn't buy a ticket to the game, would know they were missing a helluva game."

On a television show before one of the Seminoles games, Nugent promised the fans that if they came to the next game, they would see something they had never seen before at a football game."

Late in the game, Nugent sent one of the school's outstanding gymnasts into the game at a halfback.

The gymnast, decked out in full football gear, was sent in motion but instead of running, the boy went into a series of back flips one and a half spins and assorted gymnastics, while the defense watched in disbelief.

Fullback Had Eyes On Tumbler

"The play would have worked said," Nugent "but the fullback, who was supposed to get the ball on a handoff, juggled it and only gained a yard and a half. I am convinced that the kid was watching the tumbler not the ball."

While at Virginia Military, Nugent used probably the only punt return formation on offense, in the history of the game. Playing against V. P. L., The Keydet backfield lined-up in a "T", with Nugent's top punt return specialists stationed 17 yards back of the line of scrimmage and 15 yards apart.

The quarterback took the snap, wheeled and fired a pass back to one back, who sprinted straight towards the other "safety" man. They exchanged the ball, as if it were a punt return and the play was good for a 30-yard gain.

"Some coaches have told me that the play wasn't sound football but it helped us win that game and any play that gains 30 yards, is certainly sound football."

IT ONLY FEELS LIKE POWER STEERING

(Corvair doesn't need it)

Corvair's ingenious design simply places the engine in the rear. That means less weight on the front wheels and a lighter, happier feel in the curve of your hands. No power assist is needed in a car that's naturally nimble. See what a fresh engineering approach can do? From handling and parking ease right on, there just isn't anything ordinary or conventional about Corvair. Look at its practically flat floor, four-wheel independent suspension, fold-down rear seat. Its air-cooled rear engine that never needs water or antifreeze or radiator repairs... and leaves engine heat and noise back where you've been. All these special advantages are standard in every Corvair. Just wait till you see how much they add to your driving pleasure. But why wait!

For Thursday, June 16, 1960

March 21 to April 20 (Aries). The very start of a matter, project, or even thought is as important as its carrying on and how you finish it. Be sure you finish it with style, manner, enthusiasm. Good day for good work.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus). Neatness, a certain amount of activity, and planning first things first are day's recipe for success. Get your feet under you. Don't over-indulge foods or liquids you like.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini). Caution in the personal and domestic departments. Tact with the opposite sex and family advisable. In fact, diplomacy and holding one's tongue are strategy throughout.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo). Note Leo, and let your conscience guide. If we all did this more often, there would be fewer paths to retrace, less to regret. Place a stein in right corner; protect the underprivileged.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra). Praise begets laurels; every one thrives on a kind word. Of course flattery is the extreme with out sincerity. Judge well between the true and the flatterer. Laughter is contagious.

January 24 to February 23 (Aquarius). Take time to double-check before acting or making changes, but don't be hesitant either where a sound new venture is available. Overwork, wrong diet are agitators.
